Un colaj sinoptic al tuturor editorialelor din revista Intermedia/1994-2012/, împreună cu un montaj de texte din Catalogele prilejuite de producerea unor evenimente kinema ikon /1970-2012/, permite vizualizarea dintr-o privire a poveștii paradoxale a grupării cu pricina, având ca semn distinctiv o umbrelă...Sub acoperișul acesteia, trei generații de creatori au produs și continuă să producă obiecte și evenimente artistice de factură ludică, în format vizual, cinetic și acustic.

Și iată că din decembrie 2012, kinema ikon are nesperata șansă ca după 45 de ani de lucrări estetice experimentale, să fie beneficiarul unui spațiu expozițional permanent la Muzeul de Artă din Arad. Ceea ce se poate vedea, auzi și interacționa în acest paralelipiped de 57 de metri pătrați, seamănă formal cu conceptul și practica aşa-ziselor cabine de curiozități renascentiste cunoscute sub numele de Wunderkammer, denumire pe care am adoptat-o/adaptat-o pentru un proiect KI care este în construcție ca work-in-progress.

Așadar, pe de o parte modelul Wunderkammer în care erau etalate obiecte bizare, combinate în mod asemănător cu o Instalație din vremurile moderne, împreună cu manipularea unor dispozitive optico-acustice cu efecte fantasmagorice, inclusiv în proiecții cu camera obscura și lanterna magica.

Pe de altă parte oferim proiectul expozițional kinema ikon în care se regăsesc obiecte materiale, lucrări de grafică, fotografie și colaje îmbinate sub forma de expresie a unei Instalații. Toate acestea sunt corelate cu dispozitive de proiecție a unor lucrări experimentale în diverse formate, mai vechi sau mai noi, inclusiv digitale, ceea ce presupune că obiectele materiale intră în relații complementare cu obiectele imateriale numite imagini, oferindu-i publicului un meta-obiect analogico-digital pe care un spectator bine temperat îl receptează sub semnul paradoxal și combinatoriu al himerei. Oricum, proiectul va continua cu o serie de evenimente, având marca ki, produse de către creatorii noii generații, pe matricea wunderkammeriană a expoziției pe care tocmai o parcurgeți cu privirea.

Expoziția, Wundercammer

Autorul, kinema ikon

Locul, Muzeul de Artă din Arad

Spațiul, paralelipiped alb de 57 m.p.

Timpul, din decembrie 2012

Genul, expoziție permanentă ki

Genul 2, expoziții temporare de autor

Forma de expresie: Instalație/Proiecție/Display

A synoptic collage of all the editorials in the Intermedia magazine /1994-2012/, accompanied by an arrangement of texts from the Catalogs occasioned by various kinema ikon events /1970-2012/ enables the simultaneous visualization of the paradoxical story of the named group, having as a distinctive sign an umbrella... Under its cover, three generations of artists have produced, and still do, artistic objects and events, of a ludical nature, and in visual, kynetic, and acoustic formats.

And here we have, since December 2012, the unexpected chance for kinema ikon, after 45 years of experimental aesthetic works, to receive of a permanent exhibitional space in the Museum of Art Arad. What can be seen, heard, interacted with in this 57 square meters cuboid resembles formally with the concept and the practice of the so-called curio cabinets of the Renaissance, known under the name of Wunderkammer, a name we adopted / adapted for an undergoing KI project, a work-in-progress.

Therefore, on one hand, the Wunderkammer model, where bizarre objects were displayed and combined in a manner similar to modern Installations, while optical-acoustic devices were manipulated to produce phantasmagoric effects, such as camera obscura and lanterna magica projections.

On the other hand, we offer kinema ikon's exhibition project, which brings together objects, graphic art, photography and collage, in the form of an Installation. These individual items are correlated to projection devices showing experimental work in diverse formats, old and new, analog and digital; material art pieces thus establish complementary connections with the non-materials ones - images, offering the public an analog-digital meta-object, which a well mannered spectator will receive [perceive?] under the paradoxical-combinatorial sign of the chimera. Either way, the project will continue with a series of ki events, organized by newer generations of creators, modeled upon the wunderkammerian matrix of the exhibition that you are about to see.

The screenshot shows a user interface for a digital fashion catalog. On the left, a male figure is shown from the waist down, wearing a top hat, a black vest over a white shirt with a red heart emblem, and pink floral shorts. He is also wearing black boots. In the center, there is a vertical menu with five categories: 'up', 'middle', 'down', 'sound', and 'txt'. To the right of the menu, a female figure is shown from the waist up, wearing a red hat with a bow, a white lace-trimmed top, and a voluminous red skirt. She is also wearing gold high-heeled shoes. Below the menu, there is a grid of various hats for selection. At the bottom of the screen, there is a footer bar with the text "george sabau _ melting pot à porter" and a series of small colored squares.

The image shows the front cover of the magazine 'Revista Clubului din Arad'. The title 'conversația conversație' is at the top in red. Below it is a large graphic of the word 'KITSCH' in blue, overlaid on a black and white photograph of a woman's face. To the left of the main title is a small box containing the word 'SUMAR' and page numbers 2-3, 7, 10, 14-15. At the bottom left is a small illustration of a person's head. The right side of the cover features several reviews for plays: 'TEATRU ROMANU în ARADU' (with a photo of a man), 'PECATELE BARBATILORU' (with a photo of a man), 'COPIL' A ROMANA' (with a photo of a child), 'Femeile cari plangu' (with a photo of a woman), and 'Intrarea în S. ore precizun' (with a photo of a group of people). Each review includes a list of cast members and production details.

On The Smallest Place on Earth, or the Place where we all became Experiments Because all Memory was an Experiment first

Ileana Selejan

Allow me to digress, if I haven't done so already.

Point of reference #1: Arad, which for the purposes of this writerly Experiment, will become The Smallest Place on Earth, i.e. the place from which all else grew, the place to which all other experiences of Place relate, since it was the point where "I" grew. The author is present; her spirit is home.

Proposition #1: a pause from the undoubtedly avid browsing you are engaged in, as we speak. Allow the catalogue you're holding in your hands to rest. I propose we begin with the silent contemplation of the prophetic phrases at the end of George Sabau's "Contextual History of kinema ikon" published on the occasion of the group's 2005 exhibition "retrospect kinema ikon '70 – '05" at MNAC, Bucharest and at the Art Museum, Arad. Let the words fall in

At the 2020 jubilee, what I have called the kinema ikon project, will be perceived by the next generation as a heterogeneous system of digital and analogic creative procedures, while old group members will have the nostalgia of the pixels of yore... Anyway, the voxels of synthetic images will constitute the main minimal units by means of which artists of the future will create the dazzling fictitious universes of virtual reality...

Point of reference #2: Longevity, kinema ikon is a rare survivor of the experimental art movements that emerged in Romania during the Communist-era. Furthermore, kinema ikon remains true to its original goal: to engage and promote experimentation in art, to tap into contemporary technologies and their most novel applications in art and life.

Proposition #2: As 2020 approaches, and as mankind passionately contemplates the birth and death of the universe, devising possibilities for the extension of life, a significant portion of conversations on art will undoubtedly either resist or explore similar notions. If Mr. Sabau is correct, by then, this text will become a real-time conversation and will occur in the absolutely "dazzling fictitious universes of virtual reality." The work they will have created by then, and the processes by which that work will manifest, playing equally important parts in their legacy; "the medium is the message" as per Marshall McLuhan's oft-quoted phrase.

My training as an art historian tells me that in order to bring critical reflection to kinema ikon's enduring artistic practice, we must first and foremost acknowledge the group's history, its ancestry, its process, the philosophical routes it has set into play since 1970, year 0.

Between 1970 and 1989 kinema ikon – Atelier de Film Experimental [Experimental Film Workshop] produced sixty-two 16mm films. While largely isolated from the broader contemporary art world during the 70s and 80s, the members of the group gathered weekly for screenings and discussions of film and contemporary art. The workshop's eclectic program for experimental art making, centered on a vested interest in art theory and the philosophy of science and technology, as in their respective application to new media. The resulting work digressed from film to photography, sound, print, symposia, events, and early experiments with computer art and cybernetics. 1989 – the year of the Romanian revolution, the fall of the Berlin wall and the Ceausescu regime – marked a break, and the group's interests shifted towards digital media, expanding onto the web, and into the street.

Working under the prescribed roles for the arts and the prohibitive sanctions of the totalitarian regime, kinema ikon did not brand itself with politics. However, the use of medium and the type of work – experimental par excellence – constituted a political statement in itself. Neither directly oppositional nor aligned, kinema ikon remains a prime example of the resistance of late-avant-garde, experimental art movements within the confines of the totalitarian state; their multi-channeled, interdisciplinary approach to art and technology a counterpoint to the single channel, linear modus operandi of the censorship, surveillance, and repression apparatus of the state. Similarly, in the years since kinema ikon has continued to operate on the margins of dominant cultural discourses – whether transitional during the 90s, or idealistically de-centered, polarized, yet often conventional, in the period since.

The post-war experimental art movements in Romania, and the subversive / resistant cultural scene of the 80s have been central to seminal studies by historians Magda Carneci and Alexandra Titu, as well as important essays by Calin Dan, Alex Leo Serban, Ileana Pintilie and Adrian Guta. Similar issues have been addressed in numerous exhibitions of pre-89 and 90s art from Eastern Europe, hosted by prestigious institutions throughout the world. Yet the question of politics – whether partisan, complacent, subversive or resistant – remains problematic for a broader range of cultural production that sits uneasily within such compartmentalized typologies and definitions. More often than not the few avant-garde movements or isolated (and thus glorified) instances of dissident art from the 60s to the 80s are (too) easily fitted into by now orthodox narratives of divisions between East and West, centers and peripheries, resistance, partisanship, communism/post-communism/nationalism/capitalism/neo-liberalism, etc.

While the history of repression cannot be changed – its memory must be revised. Because more often than not, what current discussions of the esoteric postmodern avant-gardes of the East leave out are their truly subversive aesthetic foundations. Other theoretical models must be devised to clarify instances of continuity and consistency within the history of groups such as kinema ikon, and their conceptually cohesive bodies of work. Longevity. Place. Perhaps there were, as there continue to be, more subtle ways of undermining authority. kinema ikon presents, I would argue, an exemplary chimera that instrumentally places technology and its convoluted relationship to aesthetics at the center of art discourse. With technology, one must catch that brief moment between its truly experimental stage and the already nostalgic, before Memory, before it is past – since all Memory was an experiment first.

Instalație/Proiecție/Vizualizare

George Sabau

Din mulțimea de termeni care au simbolizat tendințele, stilurile, artele poetice și curentele estetice din ultima jumătate de secol, am încercat să selectez doar trei, care să fie suficient de elocvente pentru a reprezenta quintesența practicii artistice atât de controversată și alambicată din anii '60 pînă azi. Demersul metodic al selectiei printr-un lanț de excluderi ar fi fost extrem de subiectiv și nu putea deveni operațional, motiv pentru care am pornit de la instrumentele/dispozitivele producătoare de lucrări estetice, pentru a transcende astfel sofisticatele teme ale stilurilor, materialelor și a conținuturilor.

Pe scurt, cei trei termeni "cîștișători" au fost Instalația, Proiecția și Vizualizarea care vor fi cele trei elemente ale unui skepsis sau structuri de funcționare a expoziției sub marca umbrelei kinema ikon intitulată Wunderkammer ki, constituind în același timp matricea viitoarelor expoziții de autor, a tinerei generații de creatori de obiecte și evenimente estetice. În fine, este necesară o scurtă descriere a celor trei concepte operaționale.

Astfel, primul termen este mai corect să-l circumscriu prin sintagma Instalație de obiecte, care la rîndul lor pot fi obiecte vizuale fizice, curiozități vintage, aparate optico-acustice dar și lucrări picturale, de grafică, fotografie, sculptură, artă decorativă, diverse tipuri de design, artefacte bricolate etc.

Termenul operațional Proiecție de imagini este mai complex, îndeosebi după emergența noilor tehnologii și astfel putem vorbi despre două tipuri de imagini: clasicele imagini analogice și noile imagini digitale. Pe primele le regăsim în procedeele tehnice ale fotografiei, filmului pe peliculă, filmului pe bandă video și televiziunii. Al doilea tip de imagini sunt datorate sistemului digital și le întîlnim din ce în ce mai mult în diferite formate și pe numeroase aparate, cum ar fi computerul, telefonul mobil, tabletele, filmul video digital și altele care vor veni. Cele două tipuri de imagini au nota comună că sunt imateriale, spre deosebire de materialitatea obiectelor iar numitorul lor comun se numește ecran/monitor/display.

Așadar, acest eveniment kinema ikon se prezintă ca o structură hybridă constituită tripartit din Instalație obiectuală/Proiecții de imagini analogice/ Vizualizări de imagini digitale, care sunt interconectate în aşa fel încît să fie receptată de către spectator ca o lucrare unitară în format Multimedia Interactiv, avînd drept background povestea mirobolantă /sic/ a grupării kinema ikon sub marca umbrelei stimulative.

Elementul asociativ de pornire îl constituie aşa-zisele Cabinete de curiozități din vremuri renascentiste denumite Wunderkammer, care etalau pe mese, rafturi, vitrine și dulapuri o varietate debordantă de lucruri naturale sau/și artificiale, adică un soi de instalație de obiecte bizare care reușeau să transmită anumite stări de uimire și neliniște spirituală. Această structură era combinată cu dispozitive tehnice care proiectau imagini fantasmagorice, dublate deseori de sunete stranii realizate la rîndul lor cu ajutorul unor aparate sofisticate.

Cei doi termeni subliniați - instalație și proiecție - sunt operaționali și în proiectul expozițional kinema ikon, cu cîteva diferențe evidente. Astfel, obiectele etalate nu sunt doar artefacte bricolate ci și lucrări artistice, ceea ce înseamnă că și Instalația în întregul ei este un colaj obiectual explicit estetic. A doua diferență notabilă s-a impus după apariția noilor tehnologii digitale prin dezvoltarea spectaculoasă unui nou tip de proiecție a cărui emergență se produce dinspre interiorul aparatului spre suprafața exterioară - computer, tabletă, telefon mobil, video digital - spre deosebire de proiecția analogică - de la camera obscura la tehnica cinematografică și videografică - la care proiecția se produce dinspre un proiectoare spre un ecran. Echivalentul funcțional al formei de receptare numită ecran are în sistemul digital denumirea de display cu sensuri complementare în limba engleză precum vizualizare, expunere, afișare, etalare!/- și în același timp monitor.

Așadar, un spectator informat poate sesiza un skepsis al expoziției a cărui structură de funcționare are drept model conceptul de Wunderkammer, adaptat la noile mijloace de creație și comunicare, rămînind activă calitatea amîndurora de a se exprima într-o formă de expresie hybridă, producătoare de hymere, înțelese ca o fîntă nonexistentă constituite din segmente de fînte existente, operațiune posibil de realizat doar prin mașini de produs imagini stupefante. Oricum, acest proiect expozițional este construit pe suportul tripartit al celor trei medii constituante - Instalație/Proiecție/Vizualizare - definițorii pentru producerea de efecte paradoxale, datorate capacitatii celor trei mijloace creative de a se stimula reciproc și în egală măsură de capacitatea asociativă a privitorului, provocat la demersuri ușor interactive și evident jucăușe, ceea ce reconfirmă dimensiunea experimentală și ludică a grupării kinema ikon.

Installation/Projection/Display

George Sabau

Out of the multitude of terms having symbolized tendencies, styles, poetics and aesthetic trends of the last fifty years, I have tried to select just three, sufficiently eloquent and representative for the quintessence of the extremely controversial and sophisticated artistic practice from the 60s to our day. The methodological approach of selection through a chain of exclusions would prove highly subjective, thus not being able to become operational, a reason for which I started from the instruments / aesthetic works producing devices, in order to transcend the complicated themes of styles, materials, and contents.

In short, the three winning terms were Installation, Projection and Visualization, which will become the three elements of a skepsis, or a structure of functioning of the exhibition under the umbrella brand kinema ikon, bearing the name Wunderkammer ki, and constituting in the same time the matrix of the future one author exhibitions, of the young generation of creators of objects and aesthetic events. In conclusion, a brief description of the three operational concepts is necessary.

Thus, the first term is more correctly to be circumscribed by the phrase Installation of objects, which in their turn, could be physical visual objects, vintage curios, optical-acoustic devices, but also visual works – paintings, drawings, photographs, sculptures, decorative art, various types of design, tinkered artifacts etc.

The operational term Projection of images is more complex, especially after the emergence of the new technologies, and thus we can speak about two types of images, the classical analogical images, and the new digital images. The former can be found in the techniques of photography, moving pictures, videotape and television. We owe the latter to the digital system, and they are to be found under various formats on a lot of devices such as computers, mobile phones, tablets, digital video film, and others, to come. The two types of images share the feature that they are immaterial, in counter-distinction to the materiality of objects, their common denominator being called screen / monitor / display.

Therefore, this kinema ikon event presents itself as a hybrid structure, constructed three-ways from Objectual Installation / Analogical Images Projections / Digital Images Visualizations, in such a way interconnected, that the public receive them as a unitary work in an Interactive Multimedia format, having as background the mirific / sic / story of the kinema ikon group, under the brand of the stimulative umbrella.

The starting associative element is represented by the so-called Curiosity Cabinets of the Renaissance, called Wunderkammer, and exhibiting, on tables, shelves and in glass cabinets a disconcerting variety of natural and / or artificial things, that is, a sort of installation of bizarre objects, able to transmit certain states of wonder and spiritual uneasiness. This structure was combined with technical devices, which projected phantasmagoric images, often dubbed by strange sounds, in their turn realized with the help of sophisticated apparatus.

The two emphasized terms – installation and projection – are operational in the exhibitional kinema ikon project too, with a few obvious differences. Thus, the exhibited objects are not merely tinkered artifacts, but works of art too, which means that the Installation in its entirety is an explicitly aesthetic objectual collage. The second notable difference was imposed after the appearance of the new digital technologies, by the spectacular development of a new type of projection, whose emergence takes place from within the device towards its surface – computer, tablet, mobile phone, digital video – as distinct from analogical projection – from the dark room to the cinematographic and video techniques –, where projection takes place from a projector towards a screen. The functional equivalent of the receiving form called screen bears in the digital system the name of display, with complementary meanings in English, such as visualizing, exposition, posting, display / ! /, and, in the same time, monitor.

Therefore, an informed viewer can discern a skepsis of the exhibition, whose functional structure has as a model the concept of Wunderkammer, adapted at the new media of creation and communication, both maintaining active their quality of expressing themselves in a hybrid form of expression, able of producing chimerae, understood as nonexistent beings made up from existent beings, an operation possible to achieve only by means of stupefying images producing machines. Anyway, this exhibitional project is constructed on the tripartite ground of the three constituent media, i. e. – Installation / Projection / Visualization –, characteristic for producing paradoxical effects, due to the faculty of the three creative media of stimulating each other and, to an equal extent, by the associative capacity of the viewer, provoked to slightly interactive and obviously playful, which confirms once again the experimental and ludical dimension of the kinema ikon group.
